MONDAY, MARCH 21, 1910.

The judicial commission is losing no time in getting down to work. The advertisement which appears elsewhere in this issue calls attention to the fact that one of the counsel selected by the judges is Mr. W. L. Walsh, K.C., of Calgary, a former president of the provincial Conservative Association and chief organizer of the party in the elections of 1905. That Mr. Walsh would have any desire to shield the government is not likely to be contended by anyone. The wide scope of the inquiry, and the character of the judges, who will conduct it, give ample assurance that nothing will be left undone to bring out all information in connection with the circumstances under which the bargain was made in the public should have in its possession.

Amid a variety of high-class comment on the Alberta and Great Waterways proposition that from the Canadian Courier is in a class by itself. "The head man of the company," says "is from Texas, or some other Mississippi point, and is named Clarke." Mr. Clarke comes from Kansas City, which is not on the Mississippi and when was that river diverted into Texas?

The Regina Standard says that Alberta has been threatened with "a scheme of graft as impudent as any devised at Ottawa." This is commended to the Bulletin's attention. There is one consideration not to be lost sight of, however, that while at Ottawa members have been in the habit of getting up in their places and making charges of graft, no one has done so at Edmonton. Here they have contented themselves with insinuations and allowed the busy-bodies of the street to do the work of attempting to undermine public confidence in the government.

Mr. John Galbraith, who was an independent candidate in Edmonton in the last provincial elections, has been telling a Toronto newspaper how he opposed and criticized the A. & G. W. arrangement at that time. This is quite correct. So did Mr. Ewing, the Conservative candidate in Edmonton. The remarks of Mr. Bennett, Conservative candidate in Calgary, regard to it, have been quoted on this page several times. These Liberals, who had nothing to say against it then and who are now finding it such a nefarious piece of legislation, cannot deny that it was brought to their attention a year ago. That was the time for coming out against it. Mr. Galbraith, Mr. Ewing, and Mr. Bennett are reasonable and consistent. But the action of those Liberals, who sought election on the strength of the Rutherford railway policy, of which the A. & G. W. was a most important part, and, at this late date, have adopted their present attitude, is difficult to explain except by considerations, which are quite foreign to the question which they have raised.

An Indian tea planter, interviewed at Victoria, ascribes much of the trouble in India to the spineless character of the rule of the Viceroy, Lord Minto. India is too far off for one to be able to say whether this does not be an injustice to the viceroy or not. But it is certain that Lord Minto never gave the impression, while he was in Canada, that he was big enough to face such tremendous problems as those he has had to deal with at Calcutta, and his appointment to so great a post came as a distinct surprise to all in this country who had had the opportunity of taking the measure of the man.

Superintendent Taylor has recommended the purchase of six more cars for the Edmonton street railway. It is a mistake to run as close to the wind in the matter of car supply as has been done in the past. For instance, just at present the absence of a second car at the station in Strathcona on the arrival of the trains is a source of much inconvenience. Every afternoon the car that is waiting is jammed to capacity within a few seconds after the train pulls in. This means a wait of half an hour for a large crowd and even then considerable discomfort during the trip is experienced.

The idea of a belt line to the east end park has been abandoned and tracks will be laid on the south route only. While the former proposition would have been desirable in many respects, it is imperative that the extension programme should be kept within bounds. The system has already branched out and taken new responsibilities on its shoulders at such a rate as to cause some apprehension.

It would be a serious matter for both countries if the tariff war, which has been threatening between Canada and the States, should actually break out. President Taft has been criticized for seeking to disturb friendly relations, but it appears as if the choice does not lie with him. Under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, a country which has discriminated against the United States, as Canada is said to have done through its treaty with France, must have the maximum duties levied upon its goods. This means the adding not only of 25 per cent. to all existing duties, so it has been interpreted, but the placing of a 25 per cent. ad valorem duty on goods that have been entering free. If this is done, the proposition is made at Ottawa to levy a 33 1/3 per cent. surtax. This is with the object of bringing the United States to reason. The policy worked out all right with Germany. But the objection to it is that it causes heavier imposts on the consumer in the interval and that once the additional protection is given to our manufacturers, it is a very difficult thing to secure its removal. This is the trouble with all protective measures. They stimulate certain industries at the expense of those which are not so favored. After a while people come to recognize that a lowering or an abolition of the tariff is in the general interests. But to bring this about means a great hardship to those who have made investments on the strength of the protection given them and governments naturally hesitate to make the move.

INDIGESTIBLE?

(Ottawa Free Press)

An example of the waste of public money which is entailed in the demands of certain opposition members for a return is given a return presented to the House of Commons concerning expenditures upon wharves and piers in the Maritime Provinces and in British Columbia. The demand for the return was moved by Mr. Bennett of Victoria, B.C., in February last year. The result is a bulky return of 634 pages, which has taken over a year to prepare and which will never be heard of again, even if the mover has the temerity to read it through.

ALBERTA JAKE VISITS LONDON TOWNSHIP

(Carstairs Journal)

Alberta Jake is a husky guy, who stood four feet six inches high, and weighed two-twenty seven. He drifted east for his holidays, and talked a deal of Alberta's ways. To him, the place was Heaven. But the London Township men so wise just smiled a trifle and winked their eyes.

Alberta Jake said his oats were great, nine thousands bushels of extra weight, from eighty-seven acres. He would sell his section on any day if he named the price. "I would be only play. There would be a dozen takers. But the London Township men so wise just smiled a trifle and winked their eyes.

Alberta Jake said the air was clear, the Rockies seemed to be very near, their peaks so high and snowy. But in reality, Jake would say, those hills were seventy miles away. O'er prairies wild and blowy. But the London Township men so wise, just smiled a trifle and winked their eyes.

who herded cattle ten thousand head without a single fear. Though the bunch stampeded one stormy day, he headed them off in the smoothest way and never lost a head. But the London Township men so wise just smiled a trifle and winked their eyes.

Oh, Alberta Jake had a thousand yarns, which he told in the London Township barns. Till his hearers eyes bulged out. But of course each one of those hearers knew that never a one of the yarns was true, he was choked up tight with doubt. But Jake just grinned till his cheeks were cracked for every yarn was a solemn fact.

The World of Amusement

That Marimba Band.

The Marimba Band, one of the big features with the Harry Lauder road show, which toured the whole continent of North America, met with unparalleled success in Calgary last week, and the Empire Theatre, where they appeared, supported by an all-star bill, was packed to the doors nightly, ample testimony that the offering was one of unusual excellence. The exquisite tonal effects produced by these clever artists on their most peculiar instrument, beggar description, but it is an absolute certainty that the novel beautiful melody which is nightly emanating from the Empire in Calgary will be an equally welcome deviation from the usual run of acts in Edmonton as well as the "southern city." The world's favorite classics, "Dost and Peasant," "Cavalleria Rusticana," etc. are all given a beautiful rendition, while the famous Harry Lauder songs are presented with a thoroughness of expression and sympathy of understanding that baffle all description. Suffice it to say that any lover of what is best in music should and undoubtedly will pay his tribute to these clever instrumentalists when they appear at the Empire Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, with the regular Monday and Wednesday matinees.

'Twas Ever Thus.

From the Denver Republican.
I never bought some Wall Street stock,
To glad me with its dividends,
But it succumbed to sudden shock
And crimped my income past amends.

I never put my dollars in
A mine that promised soon to "ship,"
That all its gold did not begin
To give me nothing but the slip.
I never bought a noble horse
To sell, mynah, at figure high.
But it was rimpheoned, and of course
Was sightless in its starboard eye.
I never raised a pig or cow
When meat was soaring high and higher,
That it did not meet death somehow
Before I'd closed up with the buyer.
In short, when Opportunity
Is going to knock and bring me bliss
It always happens, seems to me,
His hand gets quick paralysis.

A POETIC CONTUSION

(By an Office Boy)

I like to go to the circus
And see the acrobats
I like to see the funny clown,
A-tumbling on the mat,
I like to see the pictures
That move across the wall.
But, oh! those lines of two-inch type—
I like them best of all.

It makes me shiver when I read,
The awful things men do,
And when they use that type it seems
It must be partly true.
It makes the little that feel so good
Run up and down my spine,
And I would rather miss a meal
Than miss a single line.

And when I'm wakened from my sleep
To hear the urchins' cry,
That "special" sets my brain a-whirl,
I run right out and buy.
Yes, things are going to the dogs;
It takes me off my feet,
To see it there that "Rutherford
Is going down the street!"

And then another comes along,
The burning words I scan,
And jumps with joy to read that
"Clarke
Has Spoken to a Man!"
I know there must be something
Wrong.
Just what I cannot say.
But, oh, I haven't had such fun
Since last St. Patrick's day.

HOW MEMBERSHIP GREW

After Four Days Campaign, Y. M. C. A.
Membership is Now 1136, an Increase of 424

A triumphant gathering assembled in the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday to see the close of the whirlwind race for increased membership. Three teams took part under the red, white, and blue ensign. They set out with the object of raising the membership from 700 to 1,000 in four days' time. The result was most satisfactory. At the closing hour last evening the score of the different teams was as follows: Whites, 151; blues, 103; reds, 66; boys, 74; making a total of 424 new members added to the Y.M.C.A. roll.

The membership previously was 712, thus making the present total membership 1136. Some idea of the splendid work done by the teams may be gathered from the fact that a five days' campaign in Winnipeg resulted in an addition of 770 members, an average of 154 per day, whereas the average in Edmonton, a city of much smaller size, was 100 per day.

President T. M. Turnbull and Secretary J. W. Ward made congratulatory speeches last evening after the campaign to a large number who gathered around to celebrate and to enjoy the music furnished by Turner's orchestra. Special credit for the success of the campaign was attributed to H. Aldridge, captain of the reds; H. H. Hall, captain of the whites, and P. E. Butcher, captain of the blues.

The Y.M.C.A. will undertake the work of the coming season under the most favorable auspices.

A C.P.R. COLONY

Being Established on Two Townships Near Sedgewick.

The Sedgewick Sentinel says:

The reputation of the Sedgewick district as being one of the “best in the west” has spread far and wide. The high scoring of the wheat at our recent Seed Fair, and at previous fairs, together with the testimony of the millers of the province, go to prove that the quality of the grain grown in this district cannot be surpassed.

Among others who have been watching for such evidences is the Canadian Pacific Railway Company Land Department. Though this Company have hundreds of thousands of acres of unoccupied land in this province, they have chosen the Sedgewick district in which to establish a colony of settlers. The C. P. R. lands in Townships 42 and 43, Ranges 11 and 12, have been withdrawn from the market and W. F. Brown appointed to select from these one hundred quarter sections for the colonists, and has already commenced this work. On each farm will be built a substantial house and barn, a well dug and fifty acres of land broken, thus giving the colonists an excellent start. Payments on these farms will be made very easy. A small cash payment will be asked and the balance arranged on the crop-payment plan, so that in this way the land will pay for itself.

TO CHURCHILL IN TWO YEARS

Promise Made by Promoters of the Hudson Bay and Pacific Railway.

Prince Albert, March 21.—G. Atwood, chief engineer of the Hudson's Bay and Pacific Railway Company who is here in connection with construction work on the railway, says that the survey work will probably be commenced within a week. A number of engineers, he said, would be here this week and that a number of forest men would be engaged to help carry on the work.

Mr. Atwood comes from London, Eng., but for the first week has been in New York, where he conferred with the contractor, A. J. Taylor. “Mr. Taylor,” said Mr. Atwood, “will arrive here in less than a week and will bring with him construction outfits, also that the work of building can be commenced as soon as the first is out of the ground.”

To Churchill in Two Years.

“The road will be built,” declared

Mr. Atwood, “and it is our intention to have the line completed to Churchill within two years. The people need not worry about it. We have come here to build the road and we will do it. We have plenty of capital and there will be no delay.”

The company is composed wholly of British capitalists, and the charter under which they are working was granted 20 months ago, and renewed a year ago. The company is known as the Hudson's Bay and Pacific Co. This report here was received with considerable skepticism at first and little faith was put in the story, but now everyone who has talked with the men already here are convinced that they mean business and that the road is assured. A. J. Spicer, of London, Eng., the chief promoter, who has 54 per cent. of the capital invested in the company, is now on his way here.

After the Curbstone Brokers.

Calgary, March 19.—Local real estate men are endorsing upon a determined policy of forcing curbstone brokers out of business, by prosecuting all who pursue their calling without a license. It has been suggested that the license should be raised from $50 to $250 or even $500.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS OF BUSY HUSTLING FOR VOTES

And Then the Summing Up—It's All Right to Lead Now, but be Sure Your Name is at the Top one Week from Tomorrow, When The Winners Will be Announced

Just one week from tonight, and “all bets are off.” Everyone will be saying, “I told you so,” and “Of course I knew this or that one would win,” etc. Right here the contest manager wants to go on record as the only person in town who does not know who is going to win.

There are many people who are going to be fooled in their choice of winners. There are some mighty “dark horses” in this race who are not making the least noise or saying very much, but who are of the stripe that accomplishes wonders in the way of vote getting.

Seven more days of the contest (after today) will soon be over, and before you realize it the time will be counted by hours and minutes instead of days. If you have neglected making your first calls on anyone whom you consider a possible subscriber, you had better make it a point to see him at once, as you will find that you will have some difficulty in seeing your prospects the last few days. Get after them the first thing in the morning, and don't let up until you have seen them all. Don't have anything on your mind this week but contest if you want to win.

Candidates, the Play Time is Over!

In the next seven days you will be able to determine “who is who and why.” You will get support from many unexpected sources and fail in many places where you had a right to expect it, and no doubt counted upon it with absolute confidence. But never mind; just stop to figure that every candidate is experiencing the same discouraging feature, and dig into the next “prospect.”

Some of the candidates say they are about at the end of their rope, as it were, and that they cannot get any more subscriptions. Others say that subscriptions never came easier, and are proving what they say to be true by bringing or sending in subscriptions every day. What one candidate can do another can duplicate. The subscription field is far from covered. Why, there are no doubt hundreds of people waiting to be approached. As late as Saturday an old subscriber sent word to the business office of the Capital stating that he wished to pay up for a period—a year, very likely—and asked that a collector be sent around for the money. Now, what do you think of that? Candidates dig in harder than ever, and catch all these “ready-to-pay” subscribers.

Do not forget that with every $30 worth of subscriptions, old or new, of large or small dimensions, you will receive 20,000 votes in addition to the regular schedule.

When you entered the contest you were determined to win a prize—a grand prize, if possible. A prize at any rate, you were resolved to win. Do not change your mind now. Stick to your resolution, and make all your past work count for something by adding every vote you can to your counting the days that are left.

“Screw your courage to the sticking point” and don't let go. The prizes will be awarded to those who are firm in their purpose and devoted their best energies to coming out ahead.

It is the old maxim that the plucky man is usually the lucky man. Of course, a man's own success is due to ability, but the other fellow's success is just pure luck. No Micaheers will be a prize in this contest. Nothing is going to “turn up” unless the candidate puts a crowbar under it.

Last of the Newspaper Coupons.

After today the newspaper coupons will be eliminated from the contest. Spending the least bit of time for two votes is labor lost at this stage of the contest. All coupons expire next Saturday, and none will be accepted or counted after that date.

Voting Schedule.

The following schedule of votes will be given during the remaining period of The Capital's prize contest.

ROADS NOT BUILT FOR COLONIZATION

Legislature Turns Down Proposition to Expend $10,000 on a Public Road to the Grand Prairie Country.

The appropriation by the department of agriculture of a sum of money for immigration and colonization was an important subject of discussion in the legislature on Saturday while the four months' estimates were being passed. Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, said it was the intention of the government to spread out in this matter and agents had already been appointed at Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal for three months to try to divert as many settlers as possible to Alberta. This bill exhibits would be made at the leading fall fairs in the States and an active campaign instituted to try and draw American settlers or farmers with money for next year would be census year and after that the province would be entitled to increased grant which it was hoped could be made as large as possible. He thought that could the province attract sufficient settlers a small sum of money spent now might be worth a million dollars in two years' time.

The question of coyote bounties was touched upon. Mr. Marshall said there would be eliminated altogether this year because he considered that now coyote bounties were worth $3 to $5 each that should be sufficient inducement to most people to kill them.

A discussion in regard to an appropriation of $10,000 for a road to Grande Prairie followed. This was asked for by the member for Pembina, who thought that now was the most opportune time to commence clearing out a road for settlers going to the Peace River country and at present there was in reality no road. Mr. Cornwall said that the department of the interior had 15,000 homesteads of the finest land ready for settlement that would accommodate 50,000 people which would certainly be an inducement to spend some money in that direction. He thought that now was the time to commence a road to enter a vast area of fine land to which at present there was practically no access.

Mr. Boyle did not favor the proposition and thought $10,000 would not do much good. Mr. J. A. McDougall supported the idea, as he thought it would be money well spent.

The question was asked if this $10,000 was taken would it have to be taken from something else.

Mr. Cushing in reply said the $10,000 would have to come out of some other item and reduce it by that much. He also stated that, in his opinion, it was not the function of the provincial government to build colonization roads, but rather to attend to and build roads for districts already populated. The province had no funds or property with which to exploit for colonization purposes. The grant of $10,000 to this road to Peace River was not enough. He thought the matter could be investigated and reported.

Mr. Kennedy, member for Bonanza, inquired if it was the intention of the government to introduce any legislation in regard to hail insurance. The premier stated that hail insurance, with some changes, would be continued this year. He was in close touch with the farmers on this matter and it was being carefully considered by the government and the farmers' association.

Mr. McKenney asked if there was any chance of the C.N.R. being continued out to Grande Prairie. The premier replied that 50 miles of this road that already been built and the province was guaranteeing the bonds. The railway intended to continue the road this year and in all probability it would be up to Athabasca Landing this year.

"Live Wire" Too Warm.

Winnipeg, March 21.—Charles Coling was arrested Saturday afternoon on a warrant charging him with publishing obscene literature in "Live Wire," a spicy weekly, which made its first appearance two weeks ago.

"IS SOCIALISM INEVITABLE?"

The enquiring soul who was not there missed a treat in the form of a debate on the above subject the other night at the Socialist Rooms, 622 First street, where by the way, visitors are heartily welcome almost any hour of the day or night.

Mr. Blaise undertook to establish that Socialism is inevitable, and opened his case by a formidable, if not new, indictment of our modern civilization. He gave unanswerable statistics conclusively showing that while the capacity for production of commodities has rapidly increased, is still increasing and will continue to increase, poverty—the demoralizing, deteriorating poverty of the people, is also increasing; and demonstrating the necessary connection between the two facts; the more intense the productive power of machinery, the less the demand for human labor power, with the employment and starvation as a consequence. This is the machine age, with no reverence for age, or anything but profit; machinery itself is ruthlessly destroyed and replaced when necessary, so the progress of civilization itself demands with no uncertain voice, that as the capitalist system hastens to its end, consumed by its own rottenness, Socialism is inevitable.

Mr. Hughes, on the other hand, stoutly refused to be fed with prophecy, or to be led away by the intonations of his opponent, whom he never so wisely.

"Inevitable" he points out, "means, it means anything, a something which cannot be avoided."

Now, there is a whole world of difference between a consummation devoutly to be wished for, an event extremely desirable, perhaps, quite possible, highly probable, and a happening which cannot possibly be averted.

"Not" he asserted, with native humor, "nothing is inevitable until it has really happened," and in speaking of the inevitability of Socialism we are mistaking the will for the deed, the wish is father to the thought.

"There is always an alternative; and if the continued existence of our boasted civilization depends upon its acceptance of Socialism, then the alternative is death. It may be a matter of Life or Death; but—it is not inevitable."

What right have we to suppose, who have hardly commenced to be, that our civilization will last forever, will in fact fare any better at the hands of other than other civilizations that once thought themselves immortal?

"The grandeur that was Greece and the glory that was Rome," we see today in the Dago that cleans our sewers or pushes a banana-cart.

"Socialism or death? Maybe. But Socialism is not inevitable!"

In reply, the opener endeavored to belittle this crushing avalanche as "words, words, mere words," claiming with enthusiasm and much logic to die and shrink one's task was a painful alternative, that in fact it was just as easy and far more noble, to complete the work so far progressed, by taking possession of industry already Socialized; thus and thus only could Society be saved. And this task was being forced upon us by the rapidly approaching decay of the present system, which contains the seeds of its own destruction; and this renders Socialism, as the next and only step, inevitable.

Everything pointed to it, all history had been a preparation for it, all things are now ready, and the logical conclusion was admitted as inevitable by the class who most feared its coming, and stood to benefit by the retention of capitalism.

The cheerful and inexhaustible doubter bawled the absence of any single point made by the opener in proof that Socialism was inevitable. He had proved, if such proof were necessary, that it was desirable, hopeful, possible, probable, and almost certain; but assured, unavoidable, no; by no means, inevitable, not even on the conclusion that those who were blinded by their ignorant fears as some were by their hopes.

All things must die. Our civilization of today must die, sooner or later, and its turn to disappear may come before the era of Socialism.

If all the forces tending toward Socialism were silenced or rendered ineffective; if "the movement" the world over were to "cease fire" and rest on their arms in fancied security; if all we individual workers withdrew our efforts; then not in a million years would Socialism be an accomplished fact.

This last point was seized by the affirmative, who briefly concluded by urging upon all the necessity of assisting evolution in hastening the Social Commonwealth; its progress might be hindered, if not stopped, by apathy as well as hostility.

There was no vote taken, but the general feeling was that it could have made the best possible show for a difficult case; the balance of opinion being that the coming of Socialism, though absolutely necessary, was not automatically inevitable.

A. C. JOHNSON,
Edmonton, A.C.

THE CAPITAL'S DAILY FASHION HINTS

On evening gowns one of the fancies of the moment is to have partly loose straight sleeves of beaded tulle. The tulle is white, black or colored, and the beads are metal or crystal. The white crystals are very popular, and sleeves lined with gold are the height of style.

For indoor wear with the separate blouse, which has preserved its vogue, although challenged by fashion, skirts in a variety of materials are suitable. Included in this list are cashmere, navy, velvet, challis, silk and wool mixtures and a heavy grade of crepe de chine, taffeta and silk serge.

For the hat coiffure is an empire ornament that is gaining a great deal of favor. It is in the form of a long, rather wide barrelette made of gold or silver latticework of baroque pearls framed in metal.

The skirt that is simple, yet includes a generous number of seams, is always a desirable one for maternity wear. The seams give an effect of slenderness, and the many gossamer, satisfactory shapings. The adjustment at the waist is made by means of elastic inserted in a casing so that the waist is easily accommodated to the need.

JUDITH CHOLLEY.

While May Maternity pattern is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 waist measure. Send 20 cents to this office, giving name, address and city, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR
McUTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"batteries and all that, don't you know. We've got to have these duds for two or three weeks at least, and we'll have to look sharp. Brodney, that's the third cup of coffee you've had. Come along! This isn't Boston."

As they left the breakfast room Chase stepped to Geneva's side and walked with her. At the foot of the stairs, where they were to part, she extended her hand, a bright smile in her eyes.

"You were and are of every bravo and good," she said. He withheld his hand, and she dropped hers, but not and strangely vexed. "Don't you care for my approval, or do you?"

"You forget, princess, that my hands are still suffering from the bravery you would show," he said, holding them resolutely behind his back.

"Oh, I remember," she cried in quick comprehension. "They were cut and bruised by the rope. How thoughtless of me! What are you doing for them? Come, Mr. Chase, may I not dress them for you? I am capable—I am not afraid of wounds. We have had many of them in our family, and fatal ones too." She was eager now and earnest.

He shook his head with a smile on his lips. "I thank you. They are better, much better, and they have been quite properly bandaged already."

"Necesse?"

"Yes," he replied gently. She seemed to search his mind with a quick, intense look into his eyes. Then she smiled and said, "I'll promise not to rub the wounds if you'll only be so good as to shake hands with me."

He took her slender hand in his broad, white swathed palm and pressed it fervently against his cheek, a gesture which would have caused him to cringe if engaged in any other pursuit.

"There was no longer any doubt as to the intentions of the disappointed islanders. Von Blitz and Rasmussen had convinced them that their cause was seriously jeopardized. They were made aware of the necessity for a more energetic removing of the white pretenders from their path."

Dephlagham, on account of his one year's detention in the British colony, was chosen chief officer of the beleaguered "etnaide." A strict espionage was set upon the native survivors despite their assurances of loyalty. Lookouts were posted in the towers, and a census watch was to be kept day and night. Chase on his first visit to the west tower discovered a long narrow searchlight of powerful dimensions. Fortunately for the besieged, the electric light plant was located in the chateau grounds and could not be tampered with from the outside.

Britt was put in charge of the night patrol, rounds the day. Sellin's orders had seemed to him to be issued with a single rifle shot. No one could hope to reach the chateau by way of the stairs.

Extra precautions were taken to guard the women from attacks from the inside. The window bars were locked and the heavy bolts were placed on the doors leading to the lower regions. It was now only too apparent that Skaggs and Wyckham had wrought well in their desperate rebellion by the native shareholders. Each window had its adjustable grates, every outer door was protected by heavy bars.

By nightfall Dephlagham's forces were in full possession of every advantage that their position afforded.

Chase came from his room, still stiff and sore, but with fresh, white bandages on his blistered hands. He asked and received permission to light a cigarette and then dropped wearily into a seat near the princess, who sat upon the stone railing. Her trim, graceful figure was outlined against the darkness. A delicate, nervous fragrance exhaled from her person, filling him with an indescribable delight and languor; the spell of her beauty was upon him, and he felt the loss of his life.

"I was you," he said at last, reluctant to despoil the picture, "I would sit with you."

"I believe so," she said at last, very simple manner for one of our friends to pick you off with a shot from above. Please let me pull up a chair for you."

She smiled languidly, without a trace of uneasiness in her manner.

"Dear officer of the day, do you think they are so foolish as to pick you off in parties? Not at all. They will dispose of you wholesale, not by the piece. By the way, has Neenan been made out comfortable?"

"I believe so. She and Sellin have the room beyond mine, thanks to Lady Dephlagham."

"Again tell me that she is very interesting—quite like a princess out of a fairy book. You recall the princesses who were always being captured by good and evil princes and who were satisfactorily rescued by those dear

They sallied away hurriedly, as if in alarm. Their haste was significant. "Perhaps he knows something about getting a word with the officer who came ashore," said Brodney hopefully. "He knows the danger we are in."

"You don't know, Brodney, he hadn't the ghost of a chance to communicate with the ship," said Chase. "He can't bully 'em any longer with his Tommy Atkins coat. They're outgrown it, just as he has. It was splendid while it lasted, but they're no more afraid of it now than they are of my warships. I wish there was some way to get him and his English assistants into the chateau. It's awful to think of what is coming to them sooner or later."

"If these three no help to help them?" groaned Dephlagham.

"I'll never forget poor Bowles the first time I saw him in his dirty red jacket and that horrible grin which reflected Chase, as if he had not heard Dephlagham's remark. "He put them on and tried to overawe the crowd that gathered about him by the light of the market place. He did his best, poor chap, and I—"

"Look!" exclaimed Britt suddenly, pointing toward one of the big gates in the upper end of the park. "I believe they're making an attack!"

The next instant the men in the balcony were leaning over the railing, and the ever ready rifles as they dashed off through the halls and out into the park. They kept themselves as well covered as possible by the hotel trees, although up to this time there had been no shooting.

Chase, in advance, suddenly gave vent to a loud cry and bodily dashed out into the open, disregarding all shelter. Two of the native park patrol were hastening toward the gate from another direction. Outside the huge, barred gate a throng of men and women were congregated. Some of the men were vigorously slapping away at the bars with staves and crowbars; others were crouching with rifles leveled in the other direction.

"It's Bowles!" shouted Chase eagerly. "There's a thousand of them coming up the miles road!"

The gates were unlocked by the park and the police station, and the huge, barred gate was thrown open. The men were rushing toward the gate from another direction. ## STEADY INCREASE IN ATTENDANCE

School Classes Awaiting New 17th St. School—Medical Inspector to Consider Teaching First Aid to Injured in City Schools.

The regular meeting of the school board was held in the superintendent's office, all members being present except A. F. Cushing. A communication from City Commissioner Butchart asking for a price on the high school site was read. The secretary was instructed to reply that the board did not consider that they had the right to dispose of the site or put a price on it in advance of the time that it was available.

A petition was received from the residents north of the C. N. R. track asking for the establishment of a school in that district west of First Street. The building committee and superintendent will report on the feasibility of moving one of the unoccupied buildings on Spadina avenue to a site north of the track. The chairman was authorized to sign the petition of ratepayers who are asking to have Ottawa avenue graded.

The Central Alberta Medical Association sent their report to the board which set out their ideas of medical inspection of schools. It was laid on the table and will be considered when the appointment of a medical inspector is made.

A report of the building committee on repairs for different schools was received and adopted. $2,500 will be spent on this work.

Superintendent McCaig made his report for the month which shows a steady increase in attendance. There are 292 pupils more than for the corresponding month last year. All the schools except one or two outlying ones are practically filled to capacity.

The west end district including McKay and the tributary schools on Saskatchewan and Peace avenues are somewhat congested, and the superintendent recommends that the board take into consideration the providing of accommodation for four classes, to take care of the school population until the Seventeenth street school is finished.

A deputation introduced by S. W. E. Kennedy, and consisting of Messrs. Pindar, Gillespie, Johnson and Mitchell, interviewed the board on the advisability of giving instruction in first aid to the injured in the schools. The matter will be taken up in connection with fixing the duties of the medical health inspector.

The officers report was received and adopted.

It was decided to have all the schools thoroughly disinfected during the Easter holidays as there has been considerable infectious disease lately in the city.

The superintendent was given leave of absence for the purpose of addressing the provincial teachers' association of British Columbia at their meeting in Nelson, the last three days of this month.

The schools will be closed next week, to give the teachers an opportunity of attending the convention. As some of the teachers are going it will be necessary to close all the schools, and the city will lose a grant for all teachers not registered at the convention.

Eight applications were received for the position of medical health inspector. They will be gone into at a meeting of the committee of the whole board on Monday evening.

THRILLING ARTIC HONEYMOON

Gunderson, of Nome, is Bringing Bride to Edmonton for Recovery from Having Felt Frozen

St. Paul, Minn., March 18.—The bride of G. Lars Gunderson is being brought from the Arctic Circle to Edmonton, Alberta, to receive treatment for her feet, which were frozen during one of the most spectacular and thrilling honeymoons in the history of the north. Gunderson, formerly of Minneapolis, has been United States Commissioner, recorder, coroner and probate judge for Kongsrud District.

Three weeks ago he married at Nome and with his bride left for Shelton, over 100 miles distant, in the face of wild storm conditions and dragged by twelve trained expert malamute hounds, the pick of Nome.

The temperature was 75 degrees below zero.

Gunderson knew the route into Shelton and drove night and day. The blizzard increased. Finally the dogs cringed and whined with the unendurable cold and balked. Gunderson got out the ropes and wrapped up himself and his bride. The dogs curled into balls of fur. Both awaited the passing of the blizzard for two days and three nights. When the blizzard ceased and Gunderson found the bride's feet had frozen, he hitched up his dogs and made for Hot Springs for medical treatment.

We Didnt Notice It.

The 17th of March was celebrated in Edmonton with moans and wails, pictures of McGuiness Irishmen of last year still hung on members wall—Calgary Herald.

BETTER TEETH FOR CHILDREN

Boston Man Gives Two Million Dollars to Bring About Improvement.

Boston, March 21.—Thomas A. Forsyth, a wealthy resident of this city, plans to give $2,000,000 for the care of the teeth of Boston school children.

As a perpetual foundation by which every child in the city from birth to the age of 16 years may receive the most expert dental services free of charge, this foundation will prove a boon to thousands of school children who otherwise would never have this care.

The money, with a part of which will be erected a building equipped with every modern apparatus known to the dentist's art and manned by a corps of the best dentists in the state, has been set aside by Mr. Forsyth and only the passage of a bill petitioning for the incorporation of his idea by the legislature stands between the plan and its immediate realization.

The proposed dental infirmary will be the most unique institution of its kind in the country.

The Forsyth Dental Infirmary, the name given to the new institution, will be in Hemenway street, in the Back Bay, where several thousand feet of land has been purchased.

No restrictions are placed upon the fund other than those outlined by the corporation which will have charge of the enterprise. A board of directors composed of some of the great dental surgeons and physicians in New England have control of the management of the institution and several of Boston's foremost dentists are among the incorporators of the bill now before the legislature.

The only condition imposed on patients who apply at the infirmary for treatment is that they shall need treatment.
